Deck Designs

Which is best for your home?

Adding fun character and valuable entertaining amenities to your home can be as simple as choosing to build a new deck. Here are some favorites you could choose.

Platform

- Not always attached to the house
- Gives your landscape a focal point for relaxation
- Simple construction
- Built low to the ground without railings or hand-rails

Raised

- Incorporates outdoor and indoor space on one level
- Natural and convenient transition from landscape to home
- Visually increases the size of your home
- Creates an easy and comfortable entertaining area

Multi-level

- Outdoor transition between multiple stories
- Sense of grandeur and a visually expanded home
- Creates both public and private areas
- Produces comfortable shaded areas

Split-level or Terraced

- Create different levels or zones in small outdoor area
- Even slight shifts in height can add visual interest
- Can increase deck size even without level yard space
- Changes in height can give a feeling of intimacy to what could be a larger deck space

Refresh Your Deck

ChoiceDek™
premium

CoolDeck

ChoiceDek Premium boards infused with innovative CoolDeck® Technology, absorb up to 35% less heat than conventional capped composites. CoolDeck® technology optimizes heat reflection and minimizes heat absorption for a more comfortable surface.*

*Conventional capped composites produced by A.E.R.T. Inc.

Whether you just completed a new deck or want to upgrade an existing deck, you can add extras and accessories to create a custom look with a lot of personality.

One thing you can do to make your deck really stand out is update the railings. On wood decks, consider replacing the traditional wood balusters with metal. Sleek, black metal balusters accent a traditional wood deck with a modern touch.

If you want a new look for your composite railings, some systems make it easy to change the style of balusters. Just remove the top rails with a mallet and go from white to black balusters for a contemporary look.

Create a unique rustic look with stone veneer post covers. These beautiful, durable post covers give the look of custom masonry at a fraction of the time and effort. Solar lights are simple to mount because they don't have cables. Adding lighted post caps is a simple way to illuminate your new gathering space. These deck post lights are available in solar and wired models.

On the decking, puck lights can be installed using a drill with a hole saw. The lights sit flush with the decking and provide a nice, soft glow around the perimeter.

Finally, dress up your deck with lattice skirting. Attach framing to the posts and screw on lattice. On a composite deck, finish the look with vinyl trim to cover the posts and composite material to cover the joists. Make a wood deck stand out with skirting cut from deck boards. You can mount them on the posts or on the rim and end joists. When the boards are in place, add a fascia board to cover the deck edges.
