

With stainless steel construction and a uniquely ergonomic design, the Kitchen SinkShroom® will neatly catch food particles without stopping the flow of water. The intuitive hollow center cylinder is raised high enough to prevent pots and dishes from blocking the drain. No matter how much refuse is gathered in the basket, optimal hole placement keeps the water flowing--and keeps dirty dish water from rising.

Water keeps flowing even when basket is full

Stainless steel construction for extra durability

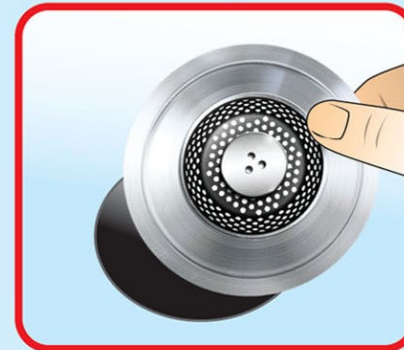

Pots and plates won't block the drain anymore

Easy-to-clean and even easier to handle

Simple to Use:

I. Remove your current strainer or basket. Place your Kitchen SinkShroom® onto your drain prior to washing dishes.

II. When basket is full or any time after dishes are washed, pick up unit from center cylinder and tap upside down against garbage bin to dispose of waste.
