

VanZyverden's CROCOSMIA GIANT LUCIFER

This gorgeous red hummingbird bloom is a favorite, with yellow to orange shaded accents that bloom atop green, sword like foliage. This hardy cultivar adds a tropical look to northern gardens. It is tolerant of summer heat, humidity and popular as a cut flower or in perennial borders. These little treasures reach a height at maturity of 4 feet, and the bold form will burn this flower into your heart. For a dramatic contrast, plant in front of dark green conifers, or any other dark leaved plants. This cultivar will not disappoint, and you will be rewarded by beautiful blooms each year.
