BURNING BUSH RED

Euonymus Alatus Compactus, known variously as winged spindle, winged euonymus, or burning bush, is a species of lowering plant, native to Japan, China, and Korea. It will add amazing fiery red foliage to your garden in the fall and a cooling blue-green in the summer. It is dense, flat-topped, and deciduous with a horizontal branching habit. It is great planted in masses, is a sensational accent, and does well in geometric planting designs, such as hedges and flower garden windbreaks. For maximum effect, plant with larger conifers or evergreens.

Spectacular fiery-red foliage in fall, which is a cooling blue-green in the summer

*Grow in any soil or location
and drought tolerant*

Excellent as a privacy hedge or to add interest to the garden

About This Variety: The burning bush is an object described by the Book of Exodus as being located on Mount Horeb. According to the narrative, the bush was on fire, but was not consumed by the flames, hence the name.

Growing Instructions: Dig a hole about a foot deep and a foot wide. Set the plant in the hole, and fill it half full with soil. Water. After water is drained, fill the rest of the hole with the remaining soil. Then water thoroughly again and continue doing so regularly. Fertilization may be necessary. Minimal care required.

Care Tip: For that burst of flame in fall, be sure to plant the shrubs where they get full sun for most of the day. Even though they love living in the shade, the leaves will not be able to turn red without a massive dose of sunshine on a daily basis. Plant 3' apart if your goal is a hedge.

Exposure: Full sun to part shade

Height: Grows 4-8' tall

Spacing: Plant- 4-8' apart, crown at soil level

Hardy in: USDA zones 4-9
