HOSTA SIEBOLDIANA ELEGANS

Hostas are grown for their foliage and not their flowers. They come in a spectrum of blues, greens, yellows and whites as well as variegated, some speckled and others striped. They thrive in the shade even though they can withstand some sun. Long-lived and low-maintenance. Many hosta varieties have seasonal color or can change color depending on growing conditions. While there are over 3,000 cultivars to choose from, we offer some of the more extraordinary. Each is unique in color, texture and form.
