Proposition 65 requires businesses to provide varnings to Californians about significant exposures to demicals that cause cancer; birth defects or other reproductive harm. These demicals can be in the products that Californians purchase, in their homes or workplaces, or that are released into the environment. By requiring that this information be provided, Proposition 65 enables Californians to make informed decisions about their exposures to these demicals.

Proposition 65 also prohibits California businesses from knowingly discharging significant amounts of listed dremicals into sources of drinking water

Proposition 65 became law in November 1986) when California votes approved it by a 68-37 percent margin. The official name of Proposition 65 is the Safe Dinking Water and Toxic Enforcement Act of 1986
