Re: InSinkErator Water Product California Proposition 65 Reply

InSinkErator, a division of Emerson Electric Co., currently sells the following water products listed in the attached Exhibit. This letter is in response to recent materials specification requests for these water products.

Through InSinkErator's legal and engineering review, InSinkErator has determined that such water products, to the best of InSinkErator's knowledge, do not expose consumers to chemicals at levels defined by the State of California on the December 27, 2017 California list of chemicals known to the State of California to cause cancer or reproductive toxicity.

Additionally, through InSinkErator's legal and engineering review, InSinkErator has determined that such water products, to the best of InSinkErator's knowledge, meet California's listed chemical discharge prohibitions into potential sources of drinking water.

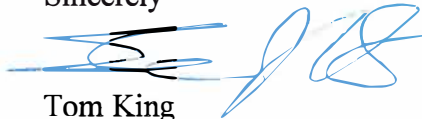

These Proposition 65 determinations conveyed today apply only to these water products in the attached Exhibit.

This Proposition 65 statement is provided to explain the basis for InSinkErator's determination that a California Proposition 65 consumer warning label is not be required on the water products or their packaging listed here.

For additional information about Proposition 65, please refer to <https://oehha.ca.gov/proposition-65>.

Thank you for your ongoing support of InSinkErator products. We value your business and appreciate your understanding as we review with the requirements of California Proposition 65.

Sincerely

Tom King

EMERSON.
